Activity/Game	Support Needed	Notes
Our favorite organizational apps for teens and tweens	Independent	We use Streaks in our house and it really helps our kids build routines! Not that it seems problematic for Stella, but I think she'd enjoy the independence.
Organizational planners	Independent	This article has a bunch of cool organizational planners. I was thinking of some of the ones with the mind maps and such to spark Stella's dreaming, goal-setting, and envisioning.
Bananagrams	Family/partner	This game will help Stella develop skills with word play and word building. Plus...it's a blast! We get tons of positive feedback on this one.
Set	Family/friends/PACE pod	This game won an award from Mensa because it was so great with gifted children. I've not played it, but I just ordered it after I reached it. 😊
Davinci's Challenge	Family/partner	Another great game we think would work well for Stella.
STEM challenges for 5th graders	Independent/partner	This is a great list for her to peruse and see what strikes her fancy.
Tween Tribune	Independent	From the Smithsonian, this site has lots of articles that Stella might find interesting to browse through.

Wreck This Journal	Independent	I think Stella might like this. It will promote her love of writing!
This booklist from Goodreads	Independent	These are all books on extreme weather that Stella might love!
The One and Only Ivan	Independent	Stella must read this book! Plus this article on the filming, much of which was in Lakeland!
Parody songs about Harry Potter	Independent	A whole collection of parodies that are based on the Harry Potter series. So many of Stella's favorites.
Superstar Math	Independent/with some light support	Kids in the founders 5 th grade class loved them (and found them really challenging). Great for higher-level thinking.
Open Middle Math Problems	Independent/light support	These would be great challenges for Stella. Find the worksheet to print and problem-solve here , and a list of problems to choose from here .
3 Act Tasks	Independent/light support	Here is the list of tasks that you can choose from: I'd start with 5 th grade and work your way up! There are recording sheets for these as well. She will find these FUN and they involve some real deep thinking.
Drawing with Mr. J	Independent	Mr. J is a friend of the founders and a teacher of the year from Ohio. This is his art class that was picked up by public broadcasting. I think Stella might be inspired by this!
Lunch Doodles with Mo Willems	Independent	This amazing author/illustrator took his talents online during the pandemic. I'm guessing you all might have discovered this already, but I wanted to put it out here for Stella.
Art Always classes	Independent	These are real-time classes and we could find a way to mail the supplies to you.
Curated Booklist from our friends at High Five Books	Independent	Created by our friends at High Five Books based on Saskia's interests. From Lexi at High Five Books: The Amelia Six

		Cattywampus Escape from Mr. Lemoncello's Library Pandava #1: Aru Shah and the End of Time Titanic #1: Unsinkable I Survived the Sinking of the Titanic, 1912 (I Survived Graphic Novel #1) Bayou Magic
If You Want to be a Great Writer	Independent	We thought this might nurture the writing bug in Stella!
Creating a Cozy Bedroom Reading Nook	Independent/with mama	We thought this might be really fun for you all to do together, and in fact, you might already have one for her! This could make reading much cooler, to have her own, special little place to read.
Rescue kitten web cam	Independent	So cute...so many kittens at this rescue in LA!
Giant Panda web cam	Independent	There's a new baby panda cub! Pandas are one of Stella's favorite animals, and this cam from the National Zoom will surely make her smile!
This Titanic virtual field trip	Independent	One of her favs!
